CAPELA DA VIRXE DOS
OLLOS GRANDES

A capela da Virxe dos Ollos Grandes é unha obra mestra do barroco galego, cuxo autor, Fernando de Casas y Novoa, deseñaría anos máis tarde a fachada do Obradoiro da catedral de Compostela.

Tres rotundos tambores pétreos en chanzos definen a pel exterior da capela. O último, a lanterna que proporciona luz a todo o interior, é, en si mesma, unha obra mestra do barroco galego.

No interior, a preciosa imaxe da Virxe dos Ollos Grandes, patrona da cidade, que cunha man suxeita docemente o seu peito e coa outra o neno, está acollida dentro dun grandioso baldaquino dourado e barroco, contido, á súa vez, no luminoso espazo interior deseñado por Casas y Novoa. Neste ambiente reluciente e branquísmo todo semella lívian e adquire un carácter irreal e sagrado.

LUGO DEBUXADO
DEBUXOS E TEXTOS SANTIAGO CATALÁN

An architectural detail showing a circular emblem or medallion set into a wall. The emblem features intricate floral or geometric patterns. It is flanked by two tall, decorative pillars with spherical ornaments at the top. The entire scene is depicted in a detailed black and white engraving style.

A black and white photograph capturing architectural details of a building. In the foreground, there are two prominent arched doorways or windows. Above these arches, there are decorative elements, possibly stone carvings or moldings. Above the arches, there are horizontal railings supported by columns, likely balcony railings. The overall style suggests a classical or neoclassical architectural design.
